Wells Fargo Historic Springfield Community Learning Center, Jacksonville

The Wells Fargo Historic Springfield Community Learning Center is located at 1601 N. Main Street in Jacksonville's historic Springfield community. The Center opened in May 2012 and adjoins a Wells Fargo retail banking store and state-of-the-art training center for team members. The unique center serves as the hub for a diverse array of organizations including employers, schools, and nonprofits that use the facility to promote small business development, financial literacy, home ownership, and job skills training in the community. The Jacksonville Urban League Economic and Community Development Foundation, Inc. manages the Center's operations.

Together we'll go far

“We chose to make an investment in Springfield not only because we were impressed with the revitalization efforts underway, but because of the passion and commitment of the community to bring Springfield back to its glory.”

— Kelly Smith, North Florida Regional President, Wells Fargo

The Center's Focus Areas:

Small Business Development

The Small Business Development Center at the University of North Florida has a satellite office at the Center where small businesses may access information on creating a business plan, effective marketing, and how to access capital.

Home Ownership

To support homeownership, the Center hosts homebuyer education classes focused on budgeting tips, savings planning for potential homeowners, and preserving homeownership for existing homeowners.

Financial Literacy

A One-Stop Financial Service Center, led by the United Way's RealSense Prosperity Campaign is located at the Center. It provides year-round financial education, including Wells Fargo's Hands on Banking®, free tax preparation, and other services.

Job Skills Training

Since its opening, the Center hosts weekly job skills training classes helping residents develop resumes, complete job applications, and prepare for interviews.

Nonprofit Sector Support

The Center provides space for local nonprofit organizations to conduct board meetings, retreats, training sessions, and other collaborative meetings at no charge. This fills a critical need and in turn, boosts the services available to Springfield and other communities in the area.

Fast Fact: Springfield is the largest historic district in Florida, listed on the National Register of Historic Places, and contains some of the city's best examples of 19th and 20th century architecture. The neighborhood's recent revitalization efforts have been led by a partnership that includes private, commercial, and residential developers; arts and cultural developers; and local and national non-profit organizations. Springfield is now home to nearly all the independent theatre and film productions in the city of Jacksonville.
